From our sommelier.....

Wine isn't just a drink – it's an experience. A glass can capture the character of the land, the passion of the people who made it, and it's always better when shared. What I love most about wine is how it can surprise you, make a great meal even better, and bring people together. From bright and refreshing whites to bold, complex reds, wine has a way of turning everyday moments into something special.

Our wine list is all about that idea. It's been put together to match and highlight the vibrant, unique flavors of coastal Mexican food. Every bottle here has been picked for its quality and the story it tells – there's nothing on this list I wouldn't happily drink myself. You'll find a mix of familiar favorites and some more adventurous choices, with something to suit every mood, meal, or vibe. Whether you're tucking into tacos, fresh ceviche, or a hearty plate of rich red meat, there's a wine here to make it sing – and I'm always happy to help you find the perfect match.

Welcome to St Alma, and Salud!

MEZCAL

Espadine

Known as the workhorse of the Mezcal world due to it being relatively easier to cultivate and farm, the Espadin is the close cousin of the Blue Weber used in Tequila. Known for roasted agave notes on the nose and a bright green herbaceous palate, the beauty in this agave comes from the choices the Mezcalero makes and how those differences in production reflect in the Mezcal.

Ensemble

The way Mezcal used to be! Before the idea of focusing on the qualities of each agave species (think the difference between Pinot Noir and Chardonnay) Mezcal was made from multiple agave species in the same batch, no two ensembles taste the same!

Mexicano

A real giant of the agave world, taking up to an impressive 25 years to mature, there are many subspecies of Mexicano but they all take on qualities from the land in which they grow, with notes anywhere between green and grassy to big orange zest notes and a quality that reminds us of terracotta.

Arroqueno

The genetic mother of the espadin, the Arroqueno almost rivals the Mexicano and Tepextate in size, dominating the wild landscape in which it's found. Fruity, herbaceous and smokey.
